

CATTLEMEN OF STATE HOLD MEETING AT PHOENIX

At a meeting of the executive committee and advisory board of the Arizona Cattle Growers' association, held at the Adams hotel, in Phoenix, matters of vital importance concerning the state were taken up and acted upon.

Forest supervisors of the various Arizona districts were also present, as the matters under discussion related to the grazing of cattle on the forest reservations.

Among the matters acted upon was a motion made to request the forest service to extend the present date for the opening of the long grazing season on forest reserves from April 1 to August 1. The reason being that the majority of the cattlemen do not receive the proceeds from the sale of their stock by the first of April, and therefore are in a better position to pay the government grazing fee at a later date. The present long season extends from April 1 to March 31.

The forest service officials at this time declined to make any change in the date for the opening of the season.

Another matter of importance taken up was the question of a special short spring season to allow the stockmen a chance to sort out and sell the overstock on their ranges. Many of the stockmen have a large number of what are known as culls on hand at the close of each season. Culls are old or lean cows, unfit for market. It is the desire of many cattle growers to hold these over on a special permit, known as an extension of the short spring season. A committee was appointed to confer with the forest supervisors in regards to the same. A conference was held with the forest supervisors present and the following resolution returned:

"Whereas, the forest service has established on several Arizona national forests, a special short spring season permit from April 1 to June, in order to place under permit the increase of permitted stock from the previous year, until such a time as the permittees can dispose of his stock under favorable range and market conditions, and,

"Whereas, it has been called to our attention that a number of grazing permittees on national forest reserves have not so arranged their business to dispose of this short spring permitted stock, and it has been necessary for the forest service to extend these grazing permits until the stock can be sold in the fall of that year, and,

"Whereas, such extension of permits on the closely stocked ranges of these forests is not for the best interest of the permittees affected; therefore,

Be it resolved, that no extension of spring permits be allowed that will tend to overstock any forest range.

(Signed) "E. H. Crabb, Ed Horrell, W. W. Cook."

Among other matters taken up at yesterday's meeting was the levying of a 1/2 cent per capita tax on all stock running on forest reserves in the state, and also upon all stock off the forest reserves belonging to members of the association. The funds derived therefrom to be donated to the use of the national marketing committee, which is formed for the purpose of obtaining better market conditions for cattlemen in all portions of the country.

The next annual meeting of the Arizona Cattle Growers' association will be held in Globe, Ariz., on the first Monday in March, 1917. The session will continue for three days.

RECORD BREAKING BUNCH OF NORTHERN BRED LAMBS

W. F. Purcell turned out a record bunch of lambs from his ranch south of Holbrook last week, according to S. Izuel, the California sheep buyer, who returned from there the latter part of last week, where he had been to accept them for shipment. Mr. Izuel says that from 7000 head he accepted 5600 fat, an average better than 80%, which, considering the total number to be selected from, breaks the record for Northern Arizona.

The fat lambs brought $6.00 per head and those cut back $5.00 per head, or an average of $5.80 per head for the total 7000 head of lambs. That Purcell is mighty well pleased with the result of his lamb sales so far goes without question.

Izuel was in Holbrook Monday again to ship out thirteen more cars of the lambs.

What "It" Is
Professor Lounsbury of Male is a foe to the purist and pedant.

On his summer holiday the professor gazed out across the lake on gray sultry afternoon and remarked:

"It looks like rain."

A pedant was seated in a rocking-chair near by.

"What looks like rain, professor?" he chuckled. "Ha, ha! I've got you there. What looks like rain?"

"Water," Professor Lounsbury answered coldly.

NORMAL ATHLETIC TEAMS DOING HARD PRACTICE

The meeting of the Literati Society on Wednesday 13th, was a very good one. A splendid program of five numbers was rendered and were very much enjoyed. Miss Winterfield, the new critic, gave a short criticism, but she seemed to think the work of the Society was progressing very nicely. Much important business was transacted. Mr. Brandt resigned his position as football captain of the Literati, because of the lack of time to practice, and so a new captain was elected. The Literati boys are confident that they can beat the Adelphean boys, and training on secret signals and plays will soon begin. A challenge was framed and sent to the Adelphean society. The good work these two societies are doing cannot be over-estimated, and the spirit and enthusiasm they arouse is amazing.

Mr. T. H. Brandt, a graduate of the class of '16, and who is taking a post graduate course, has accepted a position with the A. L. & T. Co. as a stenographer.

Mr. Carlton Prather and Wilford Hamblin, two of the best football players of last year's team, have been confined to their rooms for a couple of days because of strained ribs, these injuries being inflicted by the new football men. This speaks well for the Normal team, and means that a hard tackling bunch are being trained. Mr. Prather and Mr. Hamblin are now able to be about, and will soon report for practice again.

Since the days are growing so short, the students do not roam the campus after dinner, but retire to one of the dormitories to dance. These little gatherings help to make the students a more friendly family, and the recreation obtained from dancing is beneficial to any one, no matter how studious.

The commercial department will soon have a stenotype. It will be given a trial with a view toward installing a course in stenotype in the Normal school.

Mrs. John Adams and Mrs. Earl Rosenberry, former members of the Normal school faculty, were voted as honorary members of the Literati society on Wednesday 13th.

A meeting of the N. A. N. S. debating club was held on Wednesday 13th. The question for discussion was "Resolved: That the United States should buy the Danish Islands in the West Indies group." Mr. Burk White won the decision for the negative over Miss Dorothy Eldson for the affirmative. The society is doing very good work and the development of this available material means a very strong team to oppose Tempe Normal in the spring of the year. Then the society contains members from both Literary societies which means much stronger opposition to each other than was had last year.

Mr. Hyde, who has planned a number of good excursions for the students of the Normal school, announces that all trips will be postponed until the weather settles.

Coach Honn has 40 girls on the basketball courts every evening. The girls are very enthusiastic in their work, and the five girls that make the first team are certainly going to earn their places. For the last five years the Normal school girls have been the champions of the state, and a much faster and better team is expected this season.

Mr. Leo Mulligan, has returned again to Normal school. He attended the school last year, but went to Tempe Normal, and stayed one day. Evidently he likes the Northern Arizona Normal school the best, for you may see his smiling face among the other happy students.

The first real game of the football season was held on Thursday 14th on the Normal gridiron. The opposing teams were made up from the Normal squad, and a very interesting game was had. Capt. Beaton chose one side and Capt. Brandt, the other. The game had been postponed a couple of times because of bad weather, and so much antagonism was aroused. The score ended 13-12, favor of Capt. Beaton. Most of the men were new players and the practice was good for them. Capt. Brandt, Hamblin, and Prather, men of last year's team, were out of the game for various reasons. The next game will be the Inter-Society game, and the one following that will be with Winslow on the Normal gridiron, on September 30th. Coach Thorpe has just announced that Prescott wants a game with the Normal school for the 5th of October, and also a game with the girls' basketball team.

A number of students have organized themselves into an orchestra club, under the direction of Miss Luscomb. They meet every Thursday night. A splendid orchestra was had last year, and a much better one is expected this year because of the abundance of material.

The football squad and the basketball squad are to have training tables. This means that the Normal school is going to make athletics one of the main issues at the school, and the players are very happy to receive this chance to secure a table. No tea nor coffee will be served and no cakes and other foods which will hinder training. Nourishing meats, milk, and vegetables will be served each meal. It is expected that this will help the condition of the players greatly for every large school that has athletics always has good training tables.

Mr. Bryan Jones, Miss Nel Brandt, Mr. Hubert Coulson, Miss Catherine Anderson, and Miss Mary Meadows went to the Verde Valley to spend the week end.

Mr. Robertson left for Cliffs last Saturday to spend Sunday with his sister.

Pretty
"Do you really think I'm pretty," she asked, poutingly.

"Of course not," said the man who always told the truth. "You've always too much powder on, and your hair is generally mussy, and you wear extreme fashions, and your ankles are too large."

But she wasn't there to hear the finish.

INDIANS WERE FIRST WOMAN SUFFRAGISTS

Washington, September 20.—To the American Indian belongs the credit for the idea of woman suffrage, asserts Red Fox James (Skiu-Hu-Shu), of the Blackfeet Indians, in a letter to Miss Alice Paul, national chairman of the Congressional Union for Woman Suffrage.

Red Fox James will be remembered as the brave who a year or so ago rode all the way from Montana to the White House, more than 4,000 miles, on horseback, bringing with him endorsements from the governors of twenty-four states in favor of having one day of the year set apart as "American Indian Day."

"In the early days, before the white-man came," says Red Fox in his letter, "the Indian women had equal voice in the Council, and even was elected chieftain: so you see this real American idea originated from the Indians before white-women have taken it up."

Red Fox declares that he is "always truly in sympathy with the women as concern a voice in the ballot of the country. Truly I regret to say I do not believe as state right, according to Wilson's plan, for if Mr. Wilson believes in his own state for women to vote, what is the difference in all states."

Compulsory Service Necessary in Democracy

Compulsory service on the part of the voting population must be inculcated in our educational system and made part of our social order, if democracy is to be safe. Should the present war result in opening our eyes in this necessity, America will have learned a lesson in time to save her from the fate which has befallen the democracies of the ancient world.—President Hadley of Male, in The Mouth's Companion.

An All Day Job

"Let's call it a day," said the professor golfer who had been hired to teach old Mr. Stupid golf.

"Why," said his client, "you've only been teaching me for an hour."

"I know that," said the golf expert, "but I see that teaching you golf is an all day job, whatever time it takes."

Government and the Citizen

Government is not a thing that runs itself. It is based on somebody's work and sacrifice. If the people who manage the government are ready to take a heavy share of the work and sacrifice, the government is generally good; if their main hope is to impose it on somebody else, the government is generally bad. This principle is just as true of a democracy as of any other form of government. The body of voters must be ready to work and fight, and if necessary be killed, for the sake of the body politic; otherwise the whole social structure will deteriorate and fall to pieces.—President Handley of Yale, in The Youth's Companion.

Being Just to Husband

Mollie had very pronounced ideas regarding the rights and wrongs of her sex.

"Don't you think, Sallie," she asked one day of her dearest friend, "that a woman should get a man's pay?"

"Well," replied Sallie, after a moment of deliberation, "I think she should let him have car fares and lunches out of it."
